

Everybody's Going to Dr. Theo. Smith's Grand Opening Easter Sunday

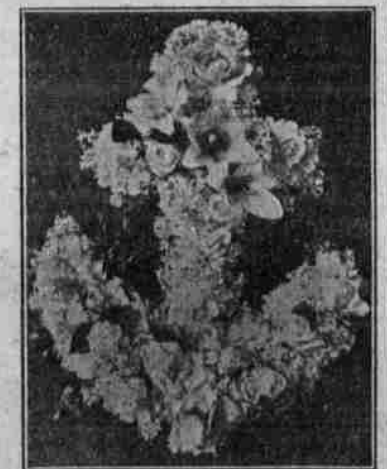

DR. WM. T. VERNON, A. M. LL. D.

President of Campbell College, Jackson, Miss., who has just completed a tour of 8,000 miles through the great Northwest and who preached an impressive and eloquent sermon at Allen Chapel on last Sunday morning to an audience that taxed the capacity of that spacious building. Dr. Vernon is engaged in raising $10,000 for his institution and is having remarkable success.

A SUCCESSFUL PHYSICIAN.

No physician in either of the Kansas Cities has built up a more lucrative practice nor achieved such remarkable success in so short a time as has Dr. R. C. Hayden, who resides at 945 Everett avenue, Kansas City, Kas., and who has an elegant suite of offices at Fourth and Minnesota avenue. Dr. Hayden came to Kansas City, Kas., in 1907, after graduating with high honors from Meharry Medical College of the class of '07, and in being successful in curing some of the most difficult cases in Kansas City, Kas., and Argentina, he began at once to build up a large practice in these two cities. There are several people in Greater Kansas City who constantly sing the praises of Dr. Hayden and say after they had been given up by several other well known physicians, he was able to restore them to complete health and each one of these happy persons became a walking advertisement for this brilliant young physician. He married Miss Estelle Wilson, a popular and accomplished teacher in the Douglass School, and so large has his practice become that he was compelled recently to purchase a handsome new Hudson automobile in order to be able to reach quickly his numerous patients. He and his estimable wife are exceedingly popular among all classes and they are both of that kind and friendly temperament that has won them a host of friends. They have two valuable residences, besides the beautiful home in which they reside, one at 1403 N. 10th street and the other at 2816 N. 6th street, both of which are rented to splendid tenants and for which he receives a neat income. Dr. Hayden's phenomenal success should be an inspiration to every competent and aspiring young man and that success which he has achieved in such a large degree can be found only by earnest application to duty and constant devotion to one's profession. The Negroes of the two Kansas Cities are proud of Dr. R. C. Hayden.

ANOTHER TRIUMPH FOR THE DELMONICO CAFE.

1512 E. Eighteenth St.

We are practically in the very spirit of Easter. As the Delmonico has always led in everything that spells service for the Cafe patron so today we are offering unusual advantages and accommodations that eclipse anything we have been able to offer in the past. Recent improvements have made it possible for us to serve our customers more efficiently and satisfactorily than ever. The already spacious dining room has been made even larger. A fine appearing partition now separates the Bakery Display from the Cafe proper. We believe this departure will please the general public since anyone desiring to purchase Bakery Goods only, need not feel the least embarrassed in coming in. (This part of our business is highly appreciated, and we feel deeply grateful that we are playing so large a part in the economic life of the bread consumer.) Whereas, the exclusive Cafe patron, by our new appointment and arrangement, can enjoy an increased privacy. We have also added another institution in our new plan. It is music.—High Class Entertainment. This will be rendered Sunday afternoons and every evening. It will be a permanent part of our standard service. Remember, Easterites! The day will be incomplete without dinner at the DELMONICO. Realizing this we have prepared an elaborate menu which is both alluring and appetizing, the same being served at a popular price.

EASTER FORECASTS

(In a la Kelly Miller Style.)

(With due apologies to that truly great writer, by C. A. Starks.)

I see the swarthy maiden bending up and down in her mistress' wash tub.

I hear her singing merrily along as she sweeps the great halls, and as she prepares the noon lunch, I see her slaving all day for a pittance, and his her weary self toward home in the evening, long after twilight.

I see her shopping on Thursday afternoon. In the cheap and common stores? Oh no! But there, where the rich can afford. She lingers long, pondering over an expensive garment.

I see her place her small mite upon the counter saying: "This for me, and no other, though it costs a hundred." I hear this ejaculation and feel pained for I know she will sacrifice.

I see her making weekly trips to pay the purse-straining price, laying upon the vain glorious altar, her very all, and I wonder what great influence impels her on.

I see the African youth moved by the same force, struggling and scheming and screaming to purchase a new spangled suit, thus seeking to spread his last dollar as a garment on his back, and I wonder what it means.

I see that long looked for Easter morn as it is ushered upon the city. The Sun in golden rays smiles its approval on earth (that is maybe) and I begin to understand just why all this preparation.

I see Church-Hill and its army of embellished ones, running to and fro from church to church displaying the latest viliy in dress creation, and am astonished with the multifarious designs and styles worn by the chocolate gentry.

I see (perhaps) these fluffly garments stirred by inclement breezes that seem cruel to the willow-like ones and even the well decked amazon suffers difficulty in retaining her equiplise when these ungentle zephyrs play havoc with her lovely gown and ungraciously discovering hosiery even to the non-perspective eye.

I see the elite of the town in trifle colors of black, brown and yellow. Brilliant dames and beautiful damsels, seasoned men and fair youths and I hear them chattering about little things, the resurrection? Not one. The Ascension? Not a soul. My heart grows weary with this as I see and am dissatisfied because all is vanity.

A MAGNIFICENT ORATORIO.

The Musicale By the Vested Choir of the Second Baptist Church a Financial and Artistic Success.

The rendition of the Oratorio, "The Seven Last Words of Christ," by DuBois, Thursday night, was one of the most musical and artistic treats of the year. More than 500 persons, among whom were quite a few of the leading white people of the city, heard this delightful program and were loud in their praises of its excellence. The management and arrangements were in the hands of that cultured, accomplished and tireless worker in her distinguished husband's church, Mrs. Dr. S. W. Bacote, and it is needless to say that every detail was carefully arranged.

Mrs. Bacote deserves all the splendid compliments she received on this magnificent presentation and she is a distinct and valuable asset to the race in this city.

The soloists were Mesdames L. J. Bacote, Corinne Lester and Miss Leslie King, sopranos; Wm. Briggs and Jas. Anderson, basses, while Miss Lula Knox presided at the organ. Mr. J. Ellison, trombonist, with Mrs. Bacote at the piano and director.

A beautiful souvenir program from the artistic print shop of Mr. Arthur W. Harris, was given each patron and today all who were present are loud in their praise of Dr. and Mrs. Bacote.

PRIZE WINNERS.

In the contest launched by Dr. Theo. Smith some days ago to give three valuable prizes for the best twenty-five words describing the Tango Sundae on a Blazer, the judges have made the following awards:

The first prize, $5 in gold, was won by Prof. D. G. Watson, 1906 East 24th street, with the following contribution:

"You should test the taste of Smith's Tango-Sundae on a blazer, the acme of perfection in frozen dainties. Smith's Drug Store, 18th and Tracy."

The second prize, a fine tennis racket, was won by Miss Claudia I. Quarrels of 2412 Montgall avenue, with the following effusion: "We are all tangoing. Where? At Dr. Theo. Smith's Drug Store. We are dancing the Tango, we are singing the Tango, we are wearing the Tango apparel, and why not be served a Tango Sundae, bubbling over with deliciousness on a blazer? It contains a dainty marshmallow, a tiny loaf of sugar surrounded by a blaze which reminds you of the volcano Sagura Yima in full eruption, candied cherries, a la nuts, strawberries to suit the taste and bananas to remind you of the banana glide. While eating it it reminds you of the Titanic going down, so come on and have one because you can't get away from it."

The third prize, a year's subscription to the Kansas City Sun, was won by Attorney W. B. Bruce of 117 West 6th street, with the following: "It is indeed enjoyable to go to Smith's and partake of that delightful, refreshing and wholesome combination of appetizing delicacies—Tango Sundae on a Blazer."

And the following came in for honorable mention on account of the excellence of their suggestions: Mrs. J. E. Frazier, 1000 Benton boulevard, sent in the following: "Go way Rastus, youse a fake. I've done got classy and up-to-date. Has done got classy of that I'm sure; got a Tango Blazer at Smith's Drug Store. I'm going backward; what is more I'm going to take you to Smith's Drug Store. Let you try something classy at a classy store—a Tango Sundae on a Blazer."

And the following from Miss Susie E. Johnson, 2412 Montgall avenue: "What do you know about 'the latest' craze? Why is a Tango Sundae on a blaze, down where nice people like to go? At Eighteenth and Tracy—Dr. Theo. Smith's Drug Store. After wearing the Tango from our head to our feet, to our surprise we can get it to eat. Most popular people like its contents and you can get it all for 15 cents. So buy and eat the Tango, you won't regret it. Dr. Smith will give you a souvenir so you can't forget it. On it is decorations which remind one of ferns, the little blaze consumes all disease germs. It is wholesome, its sweet, so pleasant to taste, and no one could consider three tacks a waste for nuts, fruit, candy and cream all there, get your name in the Sun there is nothing so fair. You can get other refreshments there at your request, but we prefer the Tango because it is best. I've said the above with no thought of the prize, it is just the opinion of little Sue with hazel eyes."

The Kaw Valley Truck Farm Co., under the aggressive management of H. P. Ewing, is making a tremendous success. That Mr. Ewing has receipts for $400 in seeds, $150 in implements, $150 in labor, $350 on lease, proves conclusively that he is a hustler. Mr. Ewing has twenty acres ready for cultivation, six hot beds planted, fifteen acres prepared for watermelons. Mr. Ewing invites all stockholders and friends to inspect the progress of this farm.

Mrs. W. G. Mosley, 2230 Woodland avenue, who has been quite ill for the past five weeks, is somewhat better.
